I have a deduped files on my HDD and it has been from several days I don't know when it has been there so I don't know the starting time, I think it could have been from midnight to now, if it's relevant to this case, I'll make an update. I tried to dedupe it with no success, after a while I tried to re-clone it with no success then I tried the reboot method and it didn't work, the more I try it the less I know how to do, what should I do? I tried the search option and it didn't find anything about this error and other answers saying that the files are still there.
