Get a look at the new graphics engine in FIFA 22 The new technology, which allows users to see amazing details even on mid-range smartphones, will revolutionise the way players perceive the game. "Like any groundbreaking technology, there's room for improvement," said Colin MacKenzie, vice president of FIFA franchise development. "With every year, FIFA is giving the gamers new tools, and this year players will see even more potential." Read on for more information and a trailer revealing some of the new improvements, features, and gameplay innovations to come with FIFA 22. Jump into the action on your own terms FIFA 22 introduces "Career Mode," a new feature that allows players to create and control their own customised player. Starting at the amateur level, players can take their local club to victory using the latest FIFA-exclusive football transfer tool. Using an intuitive interface, players can pull all-new tools and unlock the most recent leagues and competitions, as well as a new transfer system that allows the transfer of players to and from the same team, which will be featured in Season mode. Create your customised player in Career Mode New in Career Mode, players will be able to create their own customised player that they can use for their clubs and create your own levels of experience. This new "Level Creator" allows players to view player attributes and customize their ideal club team. All of the attributes for players are presented visually and as pie charts, as well as a text-based player data display so that the player can see exactly which attributes are low, medium or high, and what positions their abilities are best suited for. Careers can be saved to unlock more skill and attributes, and players can set individual attributes to see the best results with that particular attribute. Customise your player in Career Mode Players can also now record and save their match highlights in the new Career Highlight Library, which is pre-loaded with a growing collection of highlights from players' careers. Once a highlight is captured, it can be shown as a still or video on the playback menu. These highlights can be shared on social media for Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and YouTube. Take the fight to the opposition every week FIFA 22 introduces a brand-new, real-time AI technology called "Tactical Deception," which creates intelligent, unpredictable and reactive opponents on the pitch. During the process of
