Any ideas what I can do? Thanks! A: Try to open the file without the -f and adding -r (remove) at the end of your command: `./C:\Program Files (x86)\Lumion 10\Application\Lumion_Pro_10.exe -r -f no` Or just add the -r as the first parameter of the java executable. Q: Pass parameter to Activity when Started from Alarm Manager This is the way to open the intent from my app: `Intent myIntent = new Intent(getApplicationContext(), MyActivity.class); myIntent.putExtra("KEY", "value"); getApplicationContext().startActivity(myIntent);` The first problem is that `myIntent.putExtra("KEY", "value");` is not a valid way because KEY is not a setter method. I've tried putting myExtra as String and then converting it to String with `getIntent().getStringExtra("KEY");` But it gives me null. Second, I don't want to pass the data when the app starts. I want to pass the data when the app is being started from an alarm. The only way I know to start an activity from an alarm is: `PendingIntent sender = PendingIntent.getActivity(this, 0, sender, PendingIntent.FLAG_CANCEL_CURRENT); AlarmManager alarm = (AlarmManager) this.getSystemService(Context.ALARM_SERVICE); alarm.set(AlarmManager.RTC_WAKEUP, alarmTime.getTime(), sender);` How should I add my extra data to the intent I pass to alarm? A: Try `Intent myIntent = new Intent(getApplicationContext(), MyActivity.class); myIntent.putExtra("KEY", "value"); getApplicationContext().startActivity(myIntent);` In the above snippet, KEY is declared as an String, so you can call `getIntent().getStringExtra("KEY");` Note In your code, you used to call the activity from your AlarmManager code. I think you want your activity to be executed when your alarm time is reached. You need to create a
